LEADING SUPPLY CHAIN AND LOGISTICS FIRM D.W. MORGAN APPOINTS KEN TURNBULL SALES AND OPERATIONS PROGRAM MANAGER

PLEASANTON, CA, June 21, 2010 — D.W. Morgan announced today that Ken Turnbull will join its growing team as Sales and Operations Program Manager. Turnbull will work closely with Vice President of Sales Don Overly and the D.W. Morgan Sales team to implement new contracts and build and manage strategic program relationships with key customers, noted supply chain partners and diverse industry sectors.

Born and raised in Sydney, Australia, Turnbull graduated in 1978 from the Sydney Institute of Technology (formerly known as Sydney Technology College) with a degree in Land and Engineering Surveying. Kicking off a career that would be marked by international experiences, Ken spent several years in the Middle East and Asia, where he gained valuable insight into global markets.

Turnbull's next move to Europe marked the beginning of a 25-year business relationship with DHL that eventually sent him stateside to be Director of National Accounts for the Pacific Northwest. Ken leaves his post at DHL in Dublin, CA to join the D.W. Morgan team.

"I'm thrilled to join Morgan at this exciting juncture, when I can draw from both my deep international roots and experience managing Fortune 500 accounts to contribute to a rapidly moving trajectory toward growth and global expansion," said Turnbull.

Morgan's management team asserts that Turnbull's detail-oriented focus and multi-cultured corporate background will be a true asset to the implementation of new business contracts.
