NORTHERN CALIFORNIA MINORITY SUPPLIER DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL (NCMSDC) HONORS D.W. MORGAN WITH 2010 SUPPLIER OF THE YEAR AWARD

PLEASANTON, Calif., March 30, 2011 — Global supply chain and logistics management firm D.W. Morgan has been awarded the Supplier of the Year award by the Northern California Supplier Development Council (NCMSDC) in the Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) category. The award is given to certified MBEs in four different classes, which are determined by annual sales. The awards honor minority-owned companies that have demonstrated excellence in their services and products and have shown growth in sales and job creation.

Morgan's award was announced at NCMSDC's 33rd annual Masquerade Gala on Friday, March 25, where eleven different Supplier Diversity Excellence awards were presented.

"We are deeply gratified to win this award in Northern California because it's a geographic area of the country recognized for its rich commitment to diversity," said David Morgan, the company's founder and CEO. "For us, commitment to diversity empowerment is more than a feel-good talking point – it's an integrated approach to how we do business, which makes winning this award exponentially satisfying."

Morgan won the Supplier of the Year award for Northern California in 2005, and the company is a contender for this year's National Supplier of the Year award to be announced in May.
